Amendment Under 37 C.F.R. §1.111 dated June 17, 2004
Response to the Office Action of March 22, 2004

REMARKS

Claim 14 was canceled without prejudice or disclaimer. New claim 16 was added. Therefore, claims 13, 15 and 16 are now pending in the present application. The rejections set forth in the Office Action are respectfully traversed below.

Rejections Under 35 U.S.C. §102

Claims 13 – 15 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) over Naoki (JP 9-259391). This reference had been discussed in the prosecution of the parent application Serial No. 09/280,699. It is submitted that nothing in the cited prior art teaches or suggests distinguishing between different communication protocols (one which is suited, and another one which is not suited for making a communication while moving) in identifying the “type” of communication equipment coupled to a computer. Different types of communication protocols are described, for example, on page 1, lines 26-30 of the specification, to include a mobile telephone system and a PHS telephone system.

Naoki merely describes identifying the “model” of the telephone set, such as a “digital 9600 telephone” and a “digital 2400 telephone.” However, both of these “models” employ the same communication protocol. In other words, both of these “models” employ a communication protocol that is only suited for making a communication while moving. Naoki does not teach or suggest any identification between different communication protocols, such as between a communication protocol suited for mobile communication and a communication protocol unsuited for mobile communication. For at least these reasons, the present claimed invention, as amended, patentably distinguishes over the prior art.
